Screener

Films must be submitted by providing a private, downloadable copy of the film (Vimeo or YouTube) as specified in the entry form. In accordance with the guidelines of the Ministry of Culture, copies of films and information materials sent by mail, courier or other physical means will not be accepted.

SELECTION

The Festival direction reserves the right to invite certain films to the selection by their own initiative, and will decide, according to its unquestionable judgment, on the admission of the films submitted for the Competition and will appoint a jury that will award the prizes.

When the author or production accepts the official invitation of the Festival, they undertake not to withdraw the film from the Festival program.

Authors of the films selected will have to submit, in the correct way and within the deadline established by the Festival's organization, the screening copy of the film (the screening format is DCP) and the one which will be eventually put online. Any other screening format will have to be discussed with the Festival direction, program office and the print traffic manager. Authors must also provide a digital screener of the final version of the film, with the same image (length, aspect ratio and frame rate) and sound (except for stereo mix) intended for the copy destined for screening; the dialogue list, both in the original language and in English (for non-Italian speaking films), high-definition stills of the film and the director, the press-book or presentation of the film and the promotional trailer. Authors of the films selected by the Prospettive Competition must also provide a copy for the official screening with Italian subtitles whether the spoken language is different from Italian.

Dates, venues, schedule and screening arrangements can be changed by the Festival direction without prior notice, but they will be promptly notified to the persons concerned.

It is the organizer's intention to do whatever it is possible to ensure that the screenings will take place in a theatre. But in the event of administrative dispositions concerning public health partially or entirely precluding access to theatres, the direction will ensure to find on-line platforms, with limited access and restrictions on the number and location of those who can access, to allow the correct running of the event.

The author of the film or its producer are responsible for the contents of the submitted works and declare of having fulfilled copyright requirements and grant the explicit authorization for their use.
